CROSS COUNTRY NEWS.

Intercollegiate Run to be Held at Princeton.—Harvard, Tech and Cornell will Race on Roxbury Course Field Day.

The selection of the Princeton course by the Intercollegiate Cross Country Association at its meeting Saturday in New York was somewhat of a disappointment to the cross country management at the Institute. It had been hoped by the athletic authorities here to secure the big event as a part of the annual Field Day, Nov. 16. The course that was to be used is the Roxbury course that has been used for the past three years for the annual runs between Harvard and Technology. It is one of the best cross country courses in this part of the country, having ample room along its full distance to accommodate a large number of runners, and offers variety, both in grade and jumps.

O. H. Starkweather, '07, has been in correspondence for some time with the managers of the other colleges, and found most of them favorable to the course. J. J. Rowe, the Harvard manager, was especially enthusiastic over the possibility of holding the race on this course. Both were confident of securing the race before going to New York, but the Association decided differently.

The team that Technology will send down to Princeton will not be as strong as the one that went to Travis Island last year. Two of its veterans have gone, one for good and the other to return next year. Both of these men were strong, consistent runners, the first being the last year's captain, Daniel Adams, '06, who ran on the Tech team for four years; the other is P. J. Clapp, '07, who was connected with the track and cross country teams during his three years' stay at the Institute. There remain with the team only two men who have had experience in intercollegiate running, H. R. Callaway, '08, and Charles W. Beam, '07. Callaway, who is this year's captain, has been Tech's star long-distance man for the past two years on the cinder path. His success in the two mile run in his first year at the Institute led him to go in for cross country work. In the run against Harvard last fall, he led throughout the latter part of the race, and was only beaten for first place by the more experienced Beam by a few yards. It is not certain yet that Beam will come out for the team this fall, as his work is troubling him somewhat. However, it is hoped that he can be persuaded to put on the shoes again. He has had a number of years experience in this work, having run on the Amherst team.

The other strong candidates for the Institute team this fall are: McGregor, '07; Chapman, '07; Huber, '10; Courteney, '10; H. H. Howland, '08; Ellis, '09; Patch, '10; Udell, '07; Christiansen, '07.

Before the Intercollegiate contest, Technology expects to take part in a triangular race on the Roxbury course. The date of this run will be that of the annual Field Day, Nov. 16, and the other two contestants will be Cornell and

ARCHITECTS HOLD SMOKER.

Mr. Walker Gives Interesting and Instructive Talk on Medieval Architecture of Germany.

Mr. C. Howard Walker gave a very interesting talk before the Architectural Society last Monday evening about a recent trip which he took through the district in Germany formerly controlled by the Hanseatic League. Starting out with the idea that this country was very uninteresting from an architectural point of view, Mr. Walker returned with a desire to go again and his account of the picturesque scenes encountered appealed to all his listeners.

During the eleventh and twelfth centuries when the lords and bishops were in control a type of Romanesque round-arched architecture was in vogue, with stone construction on the exterior and brick on the interior. The churches had very steep roofs and were constantly built higher until the spires often reached the height of over four hundred feet. But during the fourteenth century a period of brick architecture with the German gothic arch came in. In this style the red brick is contrasted with the green glazed brick and the simple lines give an excellent effect. In all the old towns are the Rathhaus, the market, and the churches of Mary, St. Andrew and St. Nicholas, and the old walls and gates are in many places still extant. The latter are especially interesting as they are used as promenades, and in order to get a good idea of a town the first thing to do is to walk around its walls. The classicism of later times is now dying out and each of these towns is returning to its individual style. The new buildings are made of the same type but larger than the old and of better material. The old quaintness is preserved and the towns are consequently very interesting.

In narrating his adventures Mr. Walker told in detail of the interesting buildings of Hanover, Hildesheim, Braunschweig, Lüneburg, Lubec, Magdeburg Eisenach, Halle, and other places which he visited and introduced many interesting anecdotes. In closing he said that he hoped that all the men would some day be able to take this trip and enjoy it as he had. After the talk refreshments were served, and, as usual, the architects enjoyed themselves immensely.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING.

Rev. A. P. Fitch of the Mt. Vernon Congregational Church will again address the Technology Y. M. C. A. meeting tomorrow at noon in the Parish Hall of Trinity Church. His strong address before the Association two weeks ago is sufficient to command a good attendance again this week.

At a meeting of the officers of Technology Young Men's Christian Association on Oct. 14, Benj. F. Carter, '07, was appointed Secretary of the Association to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. H. Medlicott, and J. N. Stephenson, '09, was made Chairman of the Meetings Committee in place of Aldrich Blake, '09.

SOPHOMORE FOOTBALL.

1909 Team Rounding into Good Shape. Coaches Hampered by Lack of Candidates.

The Sophomore football team has been hard at work every afternoon since the opening of the season, on the oval in the rear of the Tech Chambers on Irvington Street. Billy McDonald has finished grounding the candidates in the fundamentals of the game, and is now practising the team in the plays that are allowable under this year's new rules. The forward pass has been tried with indifferent success. So far there have been about sixteen men out for the team, this small number preventing much good scrimmage work. But the men that are out are experienced players, many of them being members of last year's team.

The team is now lining up in practice as follows: right end, Dawes; right tackle, Pope; right guard, Critchett; center, Dow; left guard, Sherman; left tackle, M. Fletcher; left end, C. Fletcher; quarter back, Sharp; right half back, Godfrey (captain); left half back, Moses; full back, Eaton (manager). Of this squad, the following were members of last year's team: Critchett, Godfrey, Eaton, and the two Fletchers. Wentworth will be out again, and may take a position in the line.

The team has no games this week, being unable to secure a game for today. Saturday's game with Mechanic Arts has been cancelled. The manager and captain have no complaint to make on the progress of the team, but wish that more men would come out so that a second team may be formed for scrimmage work.

1910 FOOTBALL TEAM.

The Freshman Football Team is yet in the first stages of development. The game with Waltham last Saturday showed bad fumbling and a marked inability to handle kicks, and the men are now being drilled to overcome these faults. The team is quite heavy and, as a consequence, has not yet developed much speed. There seems to be good material among the candidates, however, and if the men do their share of the work, Coach McCarty hopes to round out a winning team. The captain has not yet been chosen and no attempt has been made to pick the regular eleven.

The game with South Boston this afternoon may be interesting as a comparison, for the teams are thought to be about equal in strength. It will at any rate, be good training for the harder game with Dean Academy on Saturday.

TECHNIQUE BOARD MEETS.

The 1908 Technique Board met in the Trophy Room on Monday. The principal subject of discussion was the one remaining vacancy on the art staff. Aspirants for this position will report to K. Vonnegut or E. J. Williams without delay. Candidates' drawings must be turned in before 12 P.M. on Saturday, the 27th inst.

THE TECH announces the election to the Business Staff of R. W. Parlin, '07, and A. Blake, '09. Mr. Blake has been granted leave of absence for one year.

Since the few episodes of the opening week, the two lower classes seem to have let the idea of Field Day drop, and that much vaunted class spirit be dispersed to the four winds. The support given by members of the classes to the teams preparing for the contest on November 16, has been wretched. Few seem to realize that this contest is for the honor of having the class numerals engraved on the handsome Trophy Cup presented six years ago by Samuel Cabot, an Alumnus and member of the Corporation; and these few working manfully, but in small numbers, with dormant classes behind them, can accomplish little. This honor so highly prized by previous classes, will be but half deserved.

As to the Freshmen, that small burst of enthusiasm which followed their dinner at the Tech Union, has died away, and a state of peace or indifference has settled down over the newcomers. The spirit shown, was evidently nothing more nor less than a case of the Rah Rabs; for in the three weeks that have followed no effort has been made to turn out teams that will make Field Day a success. Not only a lack of interest is evident, but there is open dissatisfaction on the part of some, and so far no advances have been made toward an amicable settlement. If the lack of harmony is between the candidates and the management, this should be easy to settle, as the team's victory means success for the class; not the manager. If it is among the candidates, the Class of 1910 is surely establishing a precedent when the members let petty troubles stand in the way of a class victory. These should be postponed until after Field Day. In a case like the present where it is a question of expediency more than of right or wrong, both the management and the candidates should bear in mind their duty to the class and Institute and settle the matter satisfactorily and quickly. This may seem an insignificant affair, but at present, when it is difficult to get sufficient men for the teams, every obstacle, however small, should be removed.

enthusiastic support of the teams, and in this direction they deserve some reward. But to achieve success capable leaders must be elected, men who can work for the class, make preparations for Field Day, and make the victory, if gained, of some moment afterwards.

Nominations have been open for a week and so far only three candidates have been proposed, with eight offices to fill. How such a condition can have developed in a class that displayed so much promise last Field Day is anything but evident.

The Athletic Association decided Monday that the Assistant Track Manager should be chosen by competition from the Sophomore class. Track is admittedly the most important branch of athletics in the Institute. The managership of the Track Team is then a position of first importance and well worth trying for; and the Assistant Manager has the best opportunity to become Manager by displaying his ability for the position. And yet, if the office is to be awarded by competition, it seems that the Athletic Association must open the contest to other classes, unless 1909 shows more decided interest at once. One candidate cannot compete. Can a body pervaded by such a spirit gain any successes as an organization?

CIVIL ENGINEERING SMOKER.

The Civil Engineering Society of the Institute will hold a smoker at the Tech Union on Saturday evening next, at eight o'clock. Professors Swain, Porter, Allen, and McKibben will be present and the meeting will afford an excellent opportunity for all Course I men to meet the professors of this department. A cordial invitation is extended to all men taking Courses I and XI. Freshmen are especially invited.

ELECTRICALS ELECT OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Electrical Engineering Society was held at Tech Union on Saturday evening for the purpose of electing the officers for the year. Those elected were: President, A. Macomber, '07; Vice-President, J. M. Frank, '07; Secretary and Treasurer, L. W. Brock, '07. These elections generally take place at the end of the preceding year, but it was decided to wait till the opening of the term, because of small attendance last June. After the election, President Macomber gave the members his ideas as to how the meetings should be conducted. He impressed upon them the advantages to be gained by having men of reputation address the members, and suggested that the talks this year be practical rather than theoretical. He also expressed himself strongly in favor of less formality at the meetings, and urged that a German student style be adopted, with "cigars and light beer." Several other members expressed themselves similarly and suggested that meetings be held more regularly. A smoker was held after the meeting, with refreshments. A number of Juniors were admitted to membership.

FRESHMAN CLASS MEETING.

At the Freshman class meeting yesterday M. Whittemore of the Junior class spoke of the Freshman football and tug of war teams. About eight men have been practicing regularly for football; the manager and coaches have been unable to develop a team on account of the poor attendance. The Juniors have sent men to coach the Freshmen every day, but have been disgusted on account of the indifference shown by most of the class. The 1910 tug of war team is in similar straits. Nineteen men were out for practice Monday, and twenty-five are needed for the team to pull against the Sophomores.

Mr. W. Adams, another Junior, spoke on the same subject and used some strong expressions to arouse enthusiasm among the Freshmen.

A per capita assessment of one dollar was voted to defray the expenses of Freshman athletics. The chairman appointed a committee consisting of one man in each section to collect this amount from every Freshman. It was also moved and carried to have the class picture taken Friday at 1 o'clock. Notices of the place of sitting will be posted on the bulletin boards.

CROSS COUNTRY NEWS.

Harvard. The Cornell manager has asked for a run with Tech on that date, and Harvard is expecting to race the Institute team again this year, as it has done for the past two years. Negotiations are now going on between the managers of the three teams, and it is very probable that the race will be arranged.

SOPHOMORE MEETING.

The Sophomores held a meeting in Huntington Hall during the noon hour Monday. Wonsou, '07, the Tug-of-War coach, severely criticised the men for the lack of enthusiasm that they are displaying in training for the athletic contest on Field Day. He sounded a warning note against the class's becoming over confident, and so inviting defeat. This is the last chance the Class of '09 will have to win a Field Day, and the opportunity is now, and the way is to come out for the teams and work, and so make victory possible. A defeat would be a blot on the reputation of the class that it would be impossible to wipe out, and which would follow it to the day it graduated. A committee was elected to make all the Sophomore arrangements for Field Day.

TECHNOLOGY CLUB.

Mr. T. H. Skinner, IV., Class of '92, will address the Technology Club on Thursday, October 18, at eight o'clock. His subject will be "The Earthquake in San Francisco." Attention will be paid to the effects of the earthquake and subsequent fire on steel structures, and the talk will be illustrated by lantern slides. Members may bring guests.

TECHNOLOGY FUND COMMITTEE.

The Technology Fund Committee has now collected almost all the first installment on the Income Fund, and this money, amounting to about $56,000 has been turned over to the treasurer.

The Fund Committee was organized in the spring of 1904 for the purpose of raising an income fund for the furthering of the development of the Institute, and began a canvass among the past students of Technology for subscriptions, a certain sum to be given each year for five years. This canvass was ended last June. At that time $280,000 was promised, payable in five installments. The first installment was due in June, 1906, and has been collected since that time.

Each installment is turned over to the treasurer of the Institute, and is used for whatever purposes the Corporation deems wisest for the furtherance of the aims of the Institute.
